Servicing your system

Servicing of mechanical systems is very important to eliminate breakdowns and extend their longevity of life

Regular servicing will ensure the system will have a longer lifespan, remain efficient and maintain both the market leading warranty that we offer on the system and the individual component warranty from the manufacturer.

Service Cost

Servicing costs range from approximately $337 to $417 + GST depending on what system you have and what is required. We will always talk these costs through with you at the time of booking the service so there are no surprises.

At Central Heating New Zealand, we understand that our relationship doesn't end once we have installed your system. We want you to have many years of comfort and enjoyment from your central heating system and encourage you to have an annual service for peace of mind and to maintain the long term investment that you have made.
